

Teaching experience

I've been teaching photography courses for the online school Learn Photography Canada since October 2021. I am their photo instructor in Vancouver. I teach in-person outdoor classes for individuals and small groups throughout the year.

In 2025, I started teaching for the Continuing Studies Department of Emily Carr University of Art + Design. I taught an online course about composition during their fall term last year. This summer, I will teach one about creating photo stories, and I am scheduled to teach both of these courses again during the fall term. One online and one in-person.

Courses for Emily Carr University of Art + Design:

- Photographic Languages: Composition
- Photo Story: Spaces, Places + the Everyday

Courses for Learn Photography Canada school:

- Digital I - Beginner Photography
- Digital II - Motion & Light
- Digital III - Landscapes & Travel
- People Photography
- Night Photography

My goal is for my students to understand well the photographic medium in order to develop their vision. Once they are comfortable with the basics, they can start creating photos that are meaningful to them.
